

Adwise® Integration Guide

Index

Introduction .....	3
What can I integrate?.....	3
How to integrate .....	3
Configuration of the tool.....	3
Integration of the service .....	4

Introduction

The present document will gather the required instructions to integrate the tools that Adwise® offers.

What can I integrate?

The tools that can be integrated are:

- T-Report™
- WatchList
- Charting
- Search Engine (all Adwise® tools in one)

How to integrate

This is an easy and fast integration. It is based on:

- Configuration of each tool
- Integration on my Web

Configuration of the tool

The parameters the user will establish are:

1. According the tool:

T-Report™

- Select the action you want to generate or integrate on.

Wathlist

- Select the stock index you want to generate or integrate on.

Charting

- Select the action you want to generate or integrate on.

Browser

- The tools are already integrated. It is not necessary to select neither an action nor a stock index.

2. Language: Spanish | English

3. Presentation on the Web

- a. In a window

This option is also known as integration in an iframe. This iframe or window will have a minimum width of 800 pixels.

- b. In a button

This option would correspond with the integration of a pop-up.

- 4. Including buttons of stock operating: buy-sell / operate

Integration of the service

To do this, the following instructions shall be followed:

1. Click on the generate button. This action will show the HTML code in the below box.
2. Select the generated code. At this point, you have to pay attention and select the code as a whole. An incorrect selection will make the view of the tool impossible.
3. Copy the code. Once the generated code is selected, the user will have to copy it. It is recommendable to open a text file and paste it on it as precautionary measure (for example, it can be copied on a writing pad).
4. Insertion of the user on the Web. This step requires the intervention of the person / department in charge of the programming and designing of your Web site.

The computer tool to which you will have access have been designed on a general basis, and therefore the aforementioned financial analysis takes the form of general information and recommendations or analysis based on objective factors (statistical methods based on the trend in a set of prices), on a series of premises or axioms (distinct premises could give rise to distinct results) and on sources regarded as reliable (however, TechRules, S.A. cannot expressly or implicitly guarantee the accuracy, unequivocal nature and/or completeness thereof).

In this regard, the computer tools, the use that the Customer may make thereof and/or their content may in no way be regarded as personalised advice with respect to investments, and:

- Do not contain personalised recommendations;
- Do not take into account the know-how and experience of the Customer or of the person acting on their behalf, or their financial standing or investment objectives, and are not based on any other of their personal circumstances (family circumstances or wealth, risk aversion, prior professional circumstances, volume of the portfolio, liquidity requirements, expected period of investment, geographical or sector preferences, etc.) or on any pre-allocated investment profile;
- As a result of the above, the recommendations included (or the securities or financial instruments which they assess) may not be suited to the personal circumstances of the user or of the person acting on their behalf or fulfil the requirements laid down by the jurisdiction in which they reside; and
- -Although they are subject to the applicable laws of Spain, they are not subject in Spain to the need of TechRules to obtain prior authorisation or the specific supervision of the Spanish Securities Market Commission (Comisión Nacional del Mercado de Valores) or of any other European regulatory body.

Copyright © Techrules. All Right Reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced in any form, electronic or mechanical, including photocopy, recording, or any information storage and retrieval system, without permission in writing from the publisher.